history

Thomas Muller was born in 1932 in Berlin, the son of a British serviceman and a German mother. In his youth, Germany was split in half, and he found himself under Communist rule. Thomas excelled at writing and became a respected writer for the German state-run news agency. He grew tired of writing lies glorifying the state. Wanting to escape from East Germany, he took any foreign assignment he could. His journeys led him first in to Russia, then China, then Tibet on a Chinese military tour of the communization of Tibet. When his military escort died in an avalanche, he started out towards India where he hoped to seek refuge and emigrate to Britain.

personality

Though forced to write lies, Thomas is deeply aware of the workings of Russian and Chinese Communism and their fatal flaws. He is quick to recognize any form of injustice. Although he has trained not to let it show, injustice grates on him.

motivations

Thomas wants to reach the border of India, where he hopes to get to a British embassy and defect to Britain, where he can write without censorship.

methods

Thomas has a Rifle and other equipment he liberated from the bodies of his Chinese escort. He will try to avoid the Chinese, and when he cant he will try to bluff his way past them with his official travel papers. Failing that, he is not afraid to shoot his way out of trouble.
